MUSSOLINI ESCAPES ASSASSIN, AIDE SHOT

ASSASSIN FIRES AT IL DUCE

Bullet Strikes Guard; Uproar Sweeps Europe

ROME, Feb. 17—Wild alarm swept Europe today as reports emanated from here to the effect that an attempt had been made upon the life of Premier Benito Mussolini.

The "ugly episode," according to the Exchange Telegraph, took place before the main gate of the Villa Torlonia, Mussolini's official residence, Wednesday morning. Reports have it that a detective was shot, and a man, said to have been but recently released from an insane asylum, was arrested.

Mussolini is said to have witnessed the arrest

Often a mark for assassins, Premier Mussolini today was reported to have again cheated death in an attack before his home in Rome. A detective was wounded by the bullet meant for Il Duce.

although the shooting took place before he had left his residence.

The assailant was reported to have spent considerable time, hatless and disheveled, walking up and down in front of the villa gate.

The detective, unnamed in reports, became suspicious of his actions and accosted him, demanding his credentials. "Here they are!" the man is said to have shouted, firing without further warning from his overcoat pocket.

The detective, a bullet in his stomach, collapsed and colleagues, assigned for duty in the vicinity, seized the man at once and disarmed him.

The papers found in his possession are reported to have stated that he had been released twelve days ago from an asylum near Rome.

The other report was to the effect that the detective was shot by a woman motivated by jealousy.

Cautious admissions were said to have been made in official circles to the effect that there had been a shooting, that a detective "might have been" wounded, and that his assailant "might be" under arrest.

Official denials came speedily, however, to all reports, that an attempt had been made upon the life of the premier. One news agency pointed out that all previous attempts up Il Duce had been made public as they happened, and that if such an attempt had been made the news, as in the past, would not be suppressed.

"It is all untrue," one official was quoted as saying. "It is denied. No attempt has been made on Mussolini's life."

"Of course, it is possible," the official continued, "that some one might have been arrested near there. But we have no such information."

Brookline Crash Injures 5 Men

Five men were injured, three seriously, in an auto crash at the Veterans of Foreign Wars parkway and South street, Brookline, today, in which two automobiles were destroyed.

One car was overturned and knocked 40 feet by the impact. Police detailed the following casualties:

Norman H. Wright of Chestnut street, Waltham, taken to Faulkner Hospital, with four other men riding in his machine, Joseph Verto of Delba street, Newton; Oscar P. Lovegren of Gilbert street, Ernest Swift of Cuba street and August Lilljegen of Bradford street, all Watertown.

Cephas I. Rock of Brookline avenue, Brookline, who police said was operator of the other machine, was uninjured.

Assassin Comes to Door of Their Rome Home

MAN HANGS 6 HOURS BY FOOT IN PLUNGE DOWN HOTEL CHUTE

In Boston's most bizarre accident, Robert Chase, 23, of Lebanon street, Melrose, coasted six floors in a laundry chute early today—and landed in City Hospital.

For six hours Chase hung by one foot on the turn of the chute until his cries were heard by a Hotel Essex bellboy.

James Drury, who heard Chase moaning, released him. Drury called police.

Only the bend in the chute stopped Chase's plunge to the basement in a nine-story dive, police said.

According to police, Chase had been visiting Harold Johnson of Whittier street, Melrose, in a ninth floor room. Hotel guests reported they last saw Chase shortly after midnight. He had visited friends on the 10th floor also.

Police said Chase apparently opened the door of the laundry chute, which runs off a corridor, and stepped into it.

He plunged, feet first, for the six floors. At the third floor the chute bends slightly.

So great was the force of the plunge that Chase's right foot broke through the metal casing of the tube. He hung there, bleeding and in intense pain, until discovered by Drury at 6 a. m.

His skin was scraped from head to foot, and his clothing was in tatters, police said.

Auto Dangles Over Bridge; Driver Safe

Roland Campbell, 25, Back Bay youth, narrowly escaped death today when an automobile he was driving skidded on a bridge on Charlesgate West, at the entrance of the Fenway, crashed through the railing and hung by the rear wheels on the brink of a 30-foot drop.

According to police, the car, a navy coupe owned by Carl Shipman of Commonwealth avenue, Jack Bay, swerved on ice and plunged over the sidewalk.

The foremost half of the machine smashed through fencework of iron and stone, stopping as if poised to dive to Ipswich street below.

Campbell crawled over the rear of the auto to safety. He received slight facial cuts from shattered glass.

Boy Thief Freed, Pal Sent to Jail

George E. Derome of Saratoga street, East Boston, 18-year-old messenger boy who financed a week-long spree in New York on $586.12 he had appropriated from a Boston financial firm, was put on probation for two years today when he pleaded guilty to larceny charges. BUT—

John Enos of Marion street, East Boston, also 18, the pal whom Derome invited to go on his informal vacation after he had taken the money, was sentenced to an indefinite term in Concord Reformatory at the same time in Suffolk Superior Court.

Enos had pleaded guilty to receiving stolen goods, but he was already on probation for snatching a handbag in East Boston.

"His own record sentences him," said Judge Frederick W. Foodick. "I can't do anything else. If it wasn't for his probation he wouldn't be sentenced there."

According to police, Derome admitted taking $30,000 in bonds and the cash on January 20 when he was working as messenger for F. L. Putnam Company. He tossed the bonds behind a radiator, where they were found later, and picked up Enos in East Boston. They went to New York, where they were arrested January 28 with 60 cents.

Wife Tells Why She Bared Her 'Scarlet' Love

SALEM, Feb. 17—"I told the court the worst about myself because I wanted to make a clean breast of everything. I didn't think I could ask for my children with a lie on my lips."

Sobbing hysterically, Mrs. Mary B. Gould, 31, so told the Boston Evening American today why she had deliberately branded herself with the "scarlet letter" while testifying in her divorce suit against George A. Gould, trombone player, father of her four children.

HOSPITAL 'GRIND' PROBED

Aroused by charges that six student nurses at Boston City Hospital have suffered breakdowns from overwork, the City Council today launched an investigation of alleged intolerable working conditions at the institution.

The probe was assigned to the council's hospital committee after Councilor Robert G. Wilson asserted the nurses had contracted tuberculosis because of the strain of long hours and poor living conditions in the past six months.

One of the nurses, Wilson declared, was so seriously stricken that she has been ordered to spend a year in a hospital.

The inquiry, according to Councilor John E. Kerrigan, of South Boston, chairman of the hospital committee, will get under way with the questioning of Dr. James W. Manary, superintendent of the hospital, and other executives.

The girl who herself faces a year of hospitalization had been caring for babies and new mothers in City Hospital maternity ward up to the time she was discovered to be dangerously ill three months ago, Wilson declared.

"I feel now," she continued, "that I have completely redeemed myself. I feel that I should get the custody of my little ones."

"I don't care for anything or anybody. Nothing matters to me—only my children."

Her statement came during a recess in the trial which for two days, has proceeded before Judge John V. Phelan, and, during which she has calmly admitted, without hesitation, to having carried on an illicit romance for three years with Philip J. Kealey, Jr., 28, a young hatter from Amesbury.

She admitted that she had journeyed to Florida with him three years ago, that they registered as man and wife at a tourist camp. As she made the admissions, she charged her husband was equally guilty of misconduct with one Catherine Ellis, a nurse. This Gould has emphatically denied.

BULLETIN
SALEM, Feb. 17—In a decision as unusual as was the hearing preceding it, Judge John V. Phelan today awarded a divorce to George A. Gould, musician, from Mrs. Mary B. Gould, 31, who branded herself while on the stand as an unfaithful wife. But, despite the divorce to the husband, Mrs. Gould was awarded custody of the four children, and $12 weekly for their support.

The recess was called during cross-examination, when she broke down on the stand and had to be escorted to a bench. When she returned to the stand, she was BABY AT PLAY—Little Kenneth Beane, "Skippy" to other youngsters in Cambridge, plays happily with Jean Sullivan, one of Councilor Michael Sullivan's nine children at Surrey st., Cambridge home. Sullivan wants to adopt baby whose parents are under arrest.

BABY 'MOTHER STOLE FOR' ASSURED HOME AND LOVE

So even though the worst befalls the jailed mother and father of little Kenneth "Skippy" Beane, the 2-year-old, curly-headed child of poverty today was assured of room in the heart and home of City Councilor Michael A. Sullivan of Cambridge.

Skippy's mother, Mrs. Esther M. Beane, is in East Cambridge jail. She pleaded guilty to passing bad checks. She and her husband, who is accused of forgery, await disposition of their cases tomorrow.

Councilor Sullivan, father of nine children, declared last night he will ask the court to make him legal guardian of the little boy, with his mother's permission, and that he will also appear in court tomorrow to plead for leniency for the mother.

"Whatever the outcome of Mrs. Beane's case," Councilor Sullivan said, "I will ask to become legal guardian of Kenneth so that I can give him a good and happy home until his mother can care for him."

"There is always room for one more in the Sullivan family. And already my own little children have learned to love this boy as if he were their own brother."

TAKES BABY TO COURT

Young Kenneth has been with the Sullivan family since last Wednesday night, when he was brought in his mother's arms to the Cambridge police station following her arrest. Councilor Sullivan volunteered to take the baby until the mother's case had been disposed of.

When Mrs. Beane pleaded guilty in East Cambridge district court yesterday to a charge of larceny, Councilor Sullivan appeared in court with the baby. He secured permission from Judge Robert Walcott to keep the child until tomorrow.

The baby's father, Wilbur T. Beane, was arraigned on charges of forging a check for $25, and

Debs Blasted As Dancer Gets Fine for Car

Charges that Boston's debutantes show more expense of lovely limbs on local beaches than Virginia Ridley, specialty dancer, did on the floor of a Blackstone street, North End, cafe, were hurled in municipal court today as Virginia was fined $50 for giving an alleged indecent performance.

John Poto, manager of the cafe and former all-scholastic football player at English High and St. John's Prep, was fined $100 for allowing the performance to be given. Both appealed.

Police officers said the arrests had been made in connection with Commissioner Timilty's drive to "clean up" night club performances and that two plain clothes officers had witnessed Miss Ridley's performance and reported she was only a black, neatly-fitted evening gown and very little else.

John R. McVey, attorney for the defendants, complained that the performance had been in no way indecent.

Hunt Bandit's Pretty Bride In $27,000 Bank Robbery

NORWALK, Ct., Feb. 17—G-men and local police forces today combed highways of four states in a search for pretty Estelle Dickson, 17, and four mid-west mobsters blamed in the spectacular $27,000 daylight robbery of two bank messengers here.

ESTELLE DICKSON
Hunted in $27,000 Bank Robbery

Suspicion fell on the notorious mob headed by Estelle's 27-year-old husband, Benny, after witnesses reported that the driver of the getaway car was slight of build and very possibly feminine.

Throughout Connecticut, Massachusetts, Rhode Island and New York, police were instructed to keep a sharp eye out for a starry-eyed "youth" who may turn out to be the charming but stormy young beauty from Topeka, Kan.

Pictures of Estelle and her husband, together with those of other known bank bandits, were rushed to Norwalk by Department of Justice agents in Washington and New York.

During the robbery Police Sergeant John Toothill, 65, was slugged. He had been guarding Foster Webb, 29, and Thomas Sheehan, 22, the messengers, when they went to the South Norwalk post-office.

Here the messengers picked up two pouches, one containing $25,000 in currency, the other the mail for the City National Bank.

As the three crossed the dividing street between East Washington and West Washington streets, walking along the sidewalk, a large, black sedan pulled up at the curb.

Three men leaped out and attacked Toothill while the other gunmen seized the pouches, and the machine sped away.

Governor to Sign UCC Bill at Once

Governor Leverett Saltonstall will affix an emergency preamble to the recently-passed unemployment compensation commission reorganization bill so that it will become law immediately, it was learned today.

Thus dispensing with the 90-day wait customary after a bill has passed the legislature, the governor was expected to sign the measure before night.

The new bill dismisses the present UCC commission made up of Judge Emil Fuchs, ex-Governor Frank G. Allen and ex-Senator James P. Meehan.

Instead, there will be one $700,000 a-year director with power to hire and fire over 2500 employees, regardless of their civil service protection, five $6000-a-year deputies, an advisory council of six and an appeal board of three.

Fifteen new positions are thus created. Possibilities for the new director include ex-Governor Frank G. Allen, Colonel John J. McLaughlin, WPA chieftain in New England, and Robert J. Watt, who was once a member of the board, but resigned.

ELLEN FRENCH ASTOR

Astors, Hub Friend At Gay Palm Beach

PALM BEACH, Fla., Feb. 17—Fugitives from New York's wintry blasts, Mr. and Mrs. John Jacob Astor—she being, of course, the former "Tucky" French of Dedham—have arrived at the Whitehall with John Drayton of Boston, Jack's cousin, for a stay of just 15 days.

Whether that is all the time Jack can be away from his desk in New York, was not made known, but upon checking in that is exactly the time for which he contracted to remain.

"Tucky" arrived today and the party is expected to swing into a full round of social activities.

So far, these festivities have been high-lighted chiefly by Mrs. Jessie Woolworth Donahue's ball at Ciel to Lindo, the Donahue estate.

The Astors' arrival is in plenty of time for the circus ball, to be staged Washington's Birthday. This affair will feature real, live, honest-to-goodness animals, borrowed from a circus in winter quarters near here.

Young Drayton, who accompanied John Roosevelt on his famed European junket two years ago—the one in which there was some controversy over an alleged incident at the Cannes battle of flowers, when the mayor was doused with a bottle of champagne—is a welcome addition to the winter colony.

He is a very personable young man, indeed, and should prove most popular at parties where there are not too many young equires for all the debs and sub-debs here for the winter.

Chicago 'Flu' Wave Takes Lives of 158

CHICAGO, Feb. 17 (INS)—The current wave of influenza and pneumonia in Chicago has claimed 158 lives since February 1, compared to 145 deaths in the same period last year, it was reported today.

With 3000 stricken in Champaign and Urbana, health authorities have ordered all schools, churches and theaters of the two towns closed. More than 100,000 children and teachers are absent in Chicago schools.

Theft Charged To Salesman

A Boston stock salesman was arrested at his Winthrop home today by officers of both municipalities, on complaint of Ethel A. Clarke of Washington street, Winthrop. She charged the salesman with the larceny of 47 shares of stock worth $1556 from her.

Miss Clarke, former owner of a fashionable inn on Shirley street, Winthrop, made the complaint against Louis W. Bell of Wiltshire street, who is scheduled to appear in Boston municipal court to answer the charges.

3000 SAFE IN FIRE AT ASYLUM

QUEBEC, Feb. 17 (Canadian Press)—Only blackened ruins remained today of St. Michael l'Archeangel Hospital for the insane after one of the most disastrous fires in Quebec's history swept the asylum for 24 hours.

More than 3000 patients were removed safely. Hospital officials said no casualties resulted. Though patients were unharmed, 10 firemen were injured.

Dr. C. S. Roy, hospital medical attendant, blamed the fire on a pyromaniac. He said in recent weeks several minor blazes had been extinguished at the spot where this fire was discovered.

ALL PATIENTS REMOVED
Attendants first moved 1700 men patients from their wing, but a high wind whipped the flames farther into the sprawling five-story structure and finally all patients were marched out into wintry weather.

Pitiful scenes were enacted during rescue work when women patients, young and old, were led from their doomed quarters into the sub-zero weather. Some cried hysterically while others stared absently at the frozen ground. Some struggled with guards and policemen had to handle violent ones.

LOSS $1,300,000
Many male patients strode into the night in their stocking feet and shirt sleeves.

Hospital officials estimated loss from the fire would reach $1,300,000, although approximately $250,000 worth of equipment was saved.

Divorce Given To De Celles

Following a bench conference, former Insurance Commissioner Francis J. De Celles was granted a divorce today from Marie De Celles of Belmont.

Principal testimony in Middlesex probate court was given by Police Inspector Edward Glennon of Cambridge police, attached to the Middlesex county district attorney's office.

Inspector Glennon told Judge John C. Leggat that, last fall, the inspector and other officers had found Mrs. De Celles and a man in a Billerica apartment.

The De Celles, it was brought out in court, were married in Cambridge August 9, 1924.

HELEN CARROLL
Hard Luck Again—Another Operation

Helen Carroll, Waiting 8th Operation, Sings

Amid the night life gaiety of the Latin quarter, blonde Helen Carroll sang last night . . .

The song was on her lips, but not in her heart, however, for that leg—rather, the spot where the leg used to be—was hurting terribly.

In a couple of weeks, when her engagement present is finished, Helen will undergo another operation, her eighth, to heal, she hopes, once and for all the troublesome wound caused by her leg amputation.

She lost the leg in an automobile accident. That was heart-breaking, because Helen had aspirations to be a famous dancer. Then followed a succession of operations. The wound never healed satisfactorily. Somehow Helen smiled through it all. If she couldn't dance she would sing. Despite the almost constant pain the young Roxbury girl maintained a smiling optimism. She won engagements here and in New York.

"I'll go in the hospital in a couple of weeks probably," she said today. "I'll be there about three weeks if everything goes all right. You see, I'm anxious to have it over with because Rudy Vallee says he wants to see me in New York and—well, it may mean a break."

Did she have trouble singing with that leg hurting so?
"It's hard at times, but the management here is very kind."

They let me off two shows to-night."

Helen smiled a little wistfully. "After all," she said cheerfully, "it could have been worse. It could have been both legs, you know."

AGED MAN SAVED, 9 FLEE LYNN FIRE

An elderly man was rescued and nine other persons were driven to the street early today when a $25,000 fire swept through a rambling old mansion in Franklin street, Lynn.

Fireman William Dolan saw flames in the basement of the house at 4:15 a. m. He telephoned a warning to the dwelling and rang in an alarm.

On the second floor, the owner of the house, Aaron Phillips, had been overcome by smoke. Captain Martin of Engine Company 2, led him to safety.

Phillips wife and two grown sons, Hyman and William, as well as the other tenants, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Roman and their four grown children, reached the street without aid.

20; John, 19; Lawrence, Jr., 36; Helen, 14; William, 13, and James, nine, fled from the third floor.

Mrs. Phoebe Hoar and Lee Hoar, 30, the latter a Tobin secretary, and another son, George, 34, escaped from the top floor.

Firemen said the blaze started from a defective stovepipe. Damage was estimated at $2500.

75 Debs Become Junior Leaguers

Frowning austere on the froth and frivolity of the social whirl, 75 sedate Boston debs today made a strictly serious-minded entry into full-fledged membership in the Junior League.

There wasn't any regular ceremony, of course, but with Mrs. Edward Warren's lecture on social service the girls became thoroughgoing Junior Leaguers.

The process began with a three-hour examination about housing, child and family welfare, social security and community organization.

The idea was for the debs to keep writing three hours, and if they knew enough answers they were qualified for full membership.

It was unthinkable, of course, that any deb should fail. Said Miss Antice Kimball, executive secretary:

"Hardly anyone ever flunks the examination. Occasionally a girl doesn't seem to catch on, and special attention is given to her.

"She is permitted to do voluntary social service work under supervision to qualify for membership."

This year's crop includes such debutante celebrities as Miss Emily Saltonstall, daughter of Governor Leverett Saltonstall, and Miss Eleanor Roosevelt of Dedham, namesake and niece of Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt.

The debs, in their provisional training course, attend lectures and field trips studying everything from infant care to prison work.

They took their examination in the Marlborough street clubhouse of the Junior League of Boston.

Cold Snap Eases in N. E.

Three deaths were attributed to cold today as the mercury slunk to a low of less than 9 above zero, one of the coldest days of the winter.

The third death was that of a man who, state police said, apparently froze to death in Plainfield.

For tomorrow, however, the weather bureau promised immediate relief, with rising temperatures, cloudy weather and snow in some sections.

The coldest reading in Boston was at 5:30 a. m. when the thermometer stood at 8.8 above. A gradual rise then began, with 18 above registered by 10 o'clock.

Bedford reported zero, while Concord and other points reported marks between zero and 7 above.

Coldest record for the day was registered in 1896, at 11 below. Highest, 60 above in 1883.

PHONE POLES DOWN

Mount Washington reported 15 below, and a 90-mile wind. Snow in the mountains is between 24 and 35 inches deep.

Due to a windstorm in northwestern Vermont telephone service in that section was temporarily crippled, according to reports to local New England Telephone officials.

They said nearly 50 telephone poles are down, severing nearly two score telephone circuits.

The storm was in the vicinity of Burlington.

NOTHING like a smoke after a tough exam, says Diana Bird after going through tests for entrance into Junior League.

DOWD BARS 'LOAFERS'

Special officers today patrolled the corridors of the new Suffolk County courthouse in Pemberton square, carrying out the orders of Sheriff John F. Dowd to prevent loitering.

Listen, Children: Paul Revere Didn't Do That!

CLEVELAND, Feb. 17 (AP) — Dr. Frederick C. Waite, professor of histology and embryology at Western Reserve University, said today Paul Revere did not make George Washington's dental plates.

Historians, he said, long have attributed to the famed moonlight rider-dentist the unruly teeth used by Washington.

Dr. Waite deposited with the Reserve school of dentistry documents which, he said, show that the teeth were made by John Greenwood, Washington's personal dentist.

The plates were carved from the tusks of a hippopotamus or the horns of a cow. The upper and lower sets were joined with a spring hinge and as a result provided numerous difficulties, historians say.

Dr. Waite said Revere, a gold and silver smith, could not have made the teeth because "the father of the country" had them before Revere's teacher, Dr. John Baker, came to this continent from London in 1767.

CAMBRIDGE

WILSON CALLED IN PLANE QUIZ

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17 (INS)—American Ambassador to Germany Hugh R. Wilson testified in secret today before the Senate Military Affairs Committee and brought into focus the part Nazi Germany is playing in the deadly gamble of European politics.

Wilson, called home from Berlin when this country's relations with Germany became strained over Jewish persecution, was the third major U. S. envoy to break precedent and appear before a military committee of Congress.

Wilson was summoned at the request of Senator Bridges (R.) of New Hampshire, who said he wanted a picture of the situation abroad as seen by a career diplomat—a "trained observer," as the senator put it.

Wilson's appearance followed that of Joseph P. Kennedy and William C. Bullitt, U. S. ambassadors to Great Britain and France, respectively, who told a joint secret session of the Senate and House Military Affairs Committee that war may come to Europe in the spring. While Ambassador Wilson was testifying, Secretary of War Harry Woodring went into the committee room.

Wilson's opinions were sought by Senator Bridges on the two important issues now before the Senate committee.

This government's "co-operation" with the European democracies in the purchase of several hundred U. S. built war planes, particularly the arrangement to aid a French air mission.

President Roosevelt's $375,000,000 army expansion bill, including funds for more than 3000 new fighting planes, which has just been passed by the House and awaiting action by the committee.

Senator Bridges said he wanted particularly to compare the testimony of a career diplomat with that of the two non-career diplomats on a forecast of what will happen in Europe within the next few months.

Steals Gems From Altar

A thief who found a widow's cache of jewelry hidden in a statue of the Blessed Virgin on a tiny altar in her home in Plim road, robbed it of antique pieces valued at $350, it was reported to Roxbury Crossing police today.

Mrs. Louise Reggio, 60, told officers she had last seen the jewelry, including a $150 diamond ring, a 300-year-old Spanish brooch worth $100 and a number of matched pearls from a necklace valued at $100, December 20. When she looked for it today it was gone.

Link J. W. Allen in Perkins Probe

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17—J. Weston Allen, former attorney general of Massachusetts was "in the pay of the Department of Labor when he appeared as a lobbyist to support legislation desired by Miss Frances Perkins." It was charged today in impeachment proceedings against the Secretary of Labor.

Seeking to broaden his request for impeachment of Miss Perkins and her chief aides, Representative J. Parnell Thomas, Jersey Republican, filed five additional counts.

Delayed in acting on the Perkins case because of conflicting legislative matters, the congressional committee may decide next Tuesday whether to expand its inquiry.

Charges by Thomas include one that the Labor Department aided aliens to legalize their entrance into the United States and that Miss Perkins advised aliens, or caused them to be advised, that they would be re-admitted through a special proviso in the Immigration Act.

This was done, Thomas charged, even in cases where persons were guilty of crimes of moral turpitude.

Actor Dies During Play, Show Goes On

NEW YORK, Feb. 17 (AP)—John E. Young, 67, a character actor who once appeared with Lillian Russell, died in his dressing room as the first act of "Knickerbocker Holiday" ended.

Young had no understudy, and other men in the cast took turns delivering his lines when they were not busy with their own.

Kidnapers Threaten Film Mogul's Child

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Feb. 17 (AP)—The home of Norman Taurog, noted director of child motion pictures, was under heavy guard today because of a telephoned threat to kidnap his daughter, six-year-old Pat Taurog, Chief of Police Charles C. Blair disclosed.

Blair announced he had assigned two investigators to watch the hillside mansion after a nurse received the warning Sunday.

Richard B. Hood, agent in charge of the local Federal Bureau of Investigation office, declined to discuss the case.

A newspaperman who sought an interview with Taurog before dawn was denied admission to the house, but talked with the butler at the front door.

NO GUARDS SEEN

He said the butler disclaimed any knowledge of a threat, but declined to awaken Taurog. No guards were visible outside, the reporter declared.

Blair said Taurog was inclined to consider the threat lightly, but Mrs. Taurog was reported on the verge of collapse. Efforts to reach

Taurog were unsuccessful, the telephone company reporting he had ordered the number changed and instructed the new one not be revealed.

NOTEWORTHY WORK

Taurog is a veteran director, having come to Hollywood in 1913 after some experience on the New York stage.

His outstanding successes have dealt with children. In 1931 he won the directorial award of the Motion Picture Academy of Arts and Sciences for "Skippy," released in 1930. Since then he has made, among a dozen outstanding pictures, "Huckleberry Finn," "The Adventures of Tom Sawyer" and "Boys' Town."

He is an uncle of Jackie Cooper, star of "Skippy" and an outstanding juvenile.

CARDINAL TO ATTEND CROWNING

(Special to the Boston Evening American.)

ABOARD S. S. SATURNIA, AT SEA, Feb. 17—William Cardinal O'Connell of Boston, drawing closer by another day's journey to the Papal conclave in Rome, today worked out a schedule to remain in Vatican City for the coronation of a successor to Pope Pius XI.

One of the "best sailors" aboard this ordinarily happy-go-lucky cruise ship, the Cardinal has formally announced his plans.

Despite his 79 years and New York reports of ill health, he weathered rough seas in excellent spirits.

In the afternoon, after having tea served in his suite, he invited Judge Paul G. Kirk, of the Massachusetts superior court, Dr. John G. Downing, of Boston, and three Boston newspapermen to join him.

During the day he received many messages, most of them from Boston, and some from Rome.

The Cardinal is due to reach Naples Feb. 23, and will reach Vatican City before March 1, when balloting for a new Pope begins in Sixtine Chapel.

2 American Cardinals At Ship Mass for Pope

By FRANK GERVASI

International News Service Staff Correspondent
Copyright, 1939

ABOARD S. S. REX, OFF SPANISH COAST, Feb. 17—In a solemn mass of requiem, without precedent aboard ship because of the assistance of two American cardinals, hundreds of the Rex's passengers and crew prayed today for the repose of the soul of Pope Pius XI and for election of a worthy successor.

The necessity for choice of a Pope who will carry on the work of Pius "for the freedom of enslaved peoples" was stressed in the sermon delivered by Msgr. Fitzgerald of Catholic University.

As Cardinal Dougherty of Philadelphia and Cardinal Mundelein of Chicago listened, Msgr. Fitzgerald paid tribute to Pius.

Mass was said as the Rex moved along the strife-torn coast of Spain, and the voices of Benjamin Gigli of the Metropolitan Opera Company and a choir of nuns drifted over the Mediterranean.

Fascism Pays Its Final Tribute to Pope Pius

ROME, Feb. 17 (INS)—While King Victor Emmanuel, Queen Elena and Premier Mussolini knelt in grief, Italian Fascism today paid its last respects to Pope Pius XI, who brought about the reconciliation between the Italian state and the Roman Catholic church.

The official state funeral for the late Pontiff at the Church of San Andrea Del Lavalle was attended by members of the royal family and the entire Fascist hierarchy, from Il Duce down.

Members of the diplomatic corps also were present.

Cardinals to Be Sealed In Vatican Feb. 28

VATICAN CITY, Feb. 17 (INS)—Present plans call for balloting for the election of a new Pope to begin on the morning of March 1, it was stated here today.

According to the plans, the College of Cardinals will be sealed in their Vatican apartments on the evening of February 28.

GARDEN DOG PLAN WAITS TOBIN O.K.

Final passage of a Boston City Council order that would permit establishment of a dog track in the Boston Garden probably will await the return of Mayor Tobin from his vacation "somewhere in the south," it was indicated today.

Following favorable action of the council in voting for the permit yesterday, the question arose as to whether it could be pushed through over the signature of Council President George A. Murray, mayor-by-proxy.

The city charter states that the acting mayor may attend to all business that "requires" action while the mayor is away.

DOUBTS ON "NECESSITY"

Though Corporation Counsel Parkman said the question had not been put up to him, and therefore he could not offer an opinion, it was indicated that it is "doubtful" that the dog permit is business "requiring" immediate action.

Murray, who voted for the permit, was expected to determine definitely whether he could sign; if not, it is expected the bill will be forwarded to the mayor.

The Council vote was taken with four members absent, Councilors Irwin, Norton, Chase and Agnew, and the only two who voted against the measure were Councilors James M. Langan and Henry L. Shattuck. There were about 100 present when the public hearing was opened at Faneuil Hall, one of the leaders of the opposition being Rev. Thomas A. Brennan, S. J., of St. Mary of the Sacred Heart Church, North End.

The suggestion that a plebiscite be held in the North End similar to that conducted in Hyde Park, was made by another opponent, George T. Lannigan.

Okl. Solon Raps Mooney 'Divorce'

OKLAHOMA CITY, Feb. 17 (INS)—Because the recently pardoned Tom Mooney is reported planning to seek a divorce from his wife, Rena, the Oklahoma Legislature today had allowed a motion commending Gov. Culbert Olson of California on the pardon to die in committee.

"After all his wife has done for him," said Sen. Felix Church, author of the resolution, "Mooney pulled a stunt like considering a divorce. He could have been one of the most popular men in the country. Perhaps his long incarceration affected him."

Mother Takes Beer, Sad Girl Takes Poison

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 17 (INS)—Twelve-year-old Carolyn Eliason was in the hospital today recovering from the effects of swallowing poison. Her mother explained to Deputy Sheriff why she did it.

"While Carolyn was in school," the mother, Mrs. Helen Eliason, said, "I had several drinks of beer. When she came home and saw me, she shook her head and said:

"That's just the way daddy did. Now you're doing the same thing. I might as well be dead."

Carolyn went into her bedroom and took poison, the mother said. Hospital attaches said the girl would live.

32 Patients, 12 Nurses Stricken

A respiratory infection which has stricken 32 patients and a dozen nurses and orderlies within the past few days has caused the banning of visitors at the Captain John Adams Hospital, on the Soldiers Home Reservation in Chelsea. Since the outbreak of the infection, new patients have been kept isolated from the two wards to which the malady has been confined, it was learned.

The illness is marked by high fever, but is of brief duration, according to reports, most of those stricken recovering within 72 hours.

Son in War Peril Worries Kennedys

LONDON, Feb. 17 (AP)—Mrs. Joseph P. Kennedy, wife of the United States ambassador to the court of St. James's, anxiously awaited word today from her son, Joseph, Jr., who is in besieged Madrid.

Mrs. Kennedy was in Cairo on a vacation but was in communication with London, according to reports.

The 23-year-old adventurer reached the palatial but shell-bombed United States embassy in Madrid last night from Valencia just as insurgent gunners ended a bombardment of the city.

News about him was delayed today because of the communication difficulties imposed by war conditions. Madrid's only contact with the outside world is by radio.

Ambassador Kennedy discussed that Joseph Jr. had been in Valencia and said his son is just back by air.

The ambassador returned from the United States on Wednesday.

The son of the ambassador has been in the international committee for the relief of the Spanish people and decided he wanted to see what the war-torn country looked like.

"He will be back when we see him," the ambassador said.

"But I wish he would stay out of the firing line," he added.

HER LOVE stolen is charge hurled by George Penberthy, singer, against Victor E. Dalton, Los Angeles financier, who he accuses of lavishing gifts on Margaret La Marr, screen actress and his wife. Penberthy asks $150,000 bail.

MADRID'S CHILDREN IN FLIGHT

PERPIGNAN, France, Feb. 17 (AP)—The Spanish government started the evacuation of children from Madrid today under a rain of shells from insurgent guns.

Government reports said six persons were killed and 20 wounded yesterday in bombardments, inflicted daily on the city since Premier Juan Negrin installed his cabinet there, February 12.

There have been several attempts to evacuate the capital, but its population of 1,000,000 is reluctant to leave their homes.

Large scale reorganization of both government and insurgent lines continued in the Madrid-Valencia front.

While insurgent forces were moving down from the conquered province of Catalonia, the government's most celebrated leaders, like Lieutenant-Colonel Enrique Lleras, were returning from the north to resume their commands in the central zone.

British Aiding Move for Peace

PARIS, Feb. 17 (AP)—President Manuel Azaña of government Spain won strong support today for his efforts to end the Spanish civil war, as Britain reported acting as his agent in peace negotiations with the insurgent generalissimo Francisco Franco.

The provisional government of Catalonia, latest to fall to the insurgents as well as many leaders of the central Madrid government, was understood to be backing the President.

Franco Coup In Belgium Fails

BRUSSELS, Feb. 17 (AP)—Belgian police and firemen today stormed the Spanish government consulate building and ejected insurgent sympathizers who had seized it in an early morning coup.

Police climbed fire ladders to get into the building after the invaders had defied authorities.

Eight men surrendered to police. They had seized the building from its caretakers, and, shouting "Viva Franco!" had raised the colors of the insurgent general.

The Belgian government has broken relations with the Madrid government and has decided to send a commercial agent to London, capital of insurgent Spain.

6 More Spanish Leaders On Trial

BARCELONA, Feb. 17 (AP)—Six more government political leaders, seized by the Insurgent military intelligence section, today were called to trial by the court of war.

Their arrests followed a closure of the execution yesterday of the Spanish Republic's first president of popular tribunes, who until former government rule was deemed an "enemy" of Insurgent Spain.

HITLER DEMAND SEEN

SHANGHAI, Feb. 17 (INS)—Japanese cables claimed today to have received information that Chancellor Hitler will dispatch an ultimatum to London, March 6, demanding return of Germany's former colonies.

REFUGEE MILLIONS SEIZED

JERSEYMAN, Feb. 17 (AP)—A French court at Pau today partly solved the problem of how France is going to pay for care of Spanish refugees.

The court sentenced 100,000 worth of Spanish goods and found a group of Spanish refugees 10,000 (99) francs ($170,000) for housing them in the Pyrenees.

Jewelry and precious metals weighing half a ton were part of the treasure of a Spanish castle where the Spanish government had concentrated its refugees. The court sentenced the goods to the French government, and the French government is going to pay for the Spanish refugees in the Pyrenees. The Spanish refugees were sentenced to 100,000 francs ($170,000) for housing them in the Pyrenees.

The court found that the treasure had been sent to France in 1936 for the refugees. The court found that the treasure had been sent to France in 1936 for the refugees.

All in the Family!

District Fire Chief Cornelius Montgomery of East Boston was back at work today after a day off, during which, single handed, he battled a fire at the home of his sister-in-law, Mrs. Cecil Montgomery, who lives next door.

In striking a match, Mrs. Montgomery accidentally ignited a piece of oily cloth. Chief Montgomery hurried to the scene with a hand extinguisher and soon the "all out" signal was sounded.

Thomas Walsh, 67, of Cornell St., died aboard the fishing ship "The Fish Hawk" today.

BEANE BOY ASSURED OF HOME

Beane's mother, Mrs. Beane, and father, Mr. Beane, were both in the hospital today, but they were both expected to be home tomorrow.

"I know nothing about this baby's mother," (counselor Sullivan said, "but I know she has been a good mother to her baby. His behavior shows that clearly."

"The baby is a healthy and happy child, and shows that he has had wonderful care. It is obvious, young as he is, that he has been trained to good behavior. He hasn't cried once since I brought him home. It is a pleasure to have him with us."

Mrs. Sullivan declared she wanted her husband to be in the hospital, but she was not sure if he would be.

"I'll be only too proud to take care of Kenneth as long as he needs a mother's care," Mrs. Sullivan said.

The baby's mother, following her husband's death, had been in the hospital for some time, but she was not sure if she would be home tomorrow.

"My husband is very sick. He hasn't got four months to live. He hasn't been able to work, and I had to have money for my baby somehow," Mrs. Beane said.

Strike Threatened
On Fishing Boats

A strike among crew members of 100 large trawlers in the Boston fishing fleet loomed as a possibility today unless the Federated Fishing Boats of New England and New York meets a list of 27 union demands by March 1.

The demands are being made by delegates of the Atlantic Fishermen's Union, an AFL unit. The latest of a series of parleys, held at the Fish Pier, was adjourned until Monday.

A DOG'S LIFE---BUT WORTH SAVING

When a dog risks his life for his master, that's routine, but when a man risks his life for a dog, that's news.

"Tip," a melancholy mongrel of variegated ancestry, was recovering today from burns suffered when he was trapped in a burning filling station at Mill street and Concord avenue, Belmont.

James W. Annis, 26, filling station attendant and owner of the dog, tried again and again to smash his way through to the rescue of his pal, and finally made it when flames around and played a stream of water on the building. Asleep under a desk when the fire broke out, "Tip" was unable to get through and was seared and unconscious when his master carried him to safety.

Dr. Chester Blakeley, who treated the animal predicted he would be fighting for bones and chasing cats within a week.

The fire started among batteries on the charging line and caused $500 damage.

6 Medford Gas Victims Recover, Kin at Hospital

Rescued by police and firemen, escaped death from illuminating gas and revived by inhalators, six of the seven persons who narrowly escaped death from illuminating gas in a house in Harvard street, Medford, were recovering today.

The seventh, Salvatore Ingeglio, 42, Greenough lane, Boston, still in Lawrence Memorial Hospital, his condition serious. The gas came from a broken main.

The near tragedy was discovered by Rose Gordan, 12, a fifth-grade pupil at the Lincoln School, who returned from school late in the afternoon to find her mother, Mrs. Anthony Gordan, her brother, Joseph, 23, a cousin, Salvatore Ingeglio, and a 13-year-old playmate, Major Sikes, sons of Harvard street, unconscious in the house.

She summoned a neighbor, Mrs. Marie Sikes, who answered her call, and her father, Anthony Gordan, returned from work. In the belief that the four were victims of ptomaine poisoning, Gordan ran to a drugstore to obtain an antidote.

When he came back he found Mrs. Sikes and his daughter also had collapsed. As he attempted to revive them, he lost consciousness. A few minutes later Mrs. Sikes recovered enough to stagger to the door and signal Frank Woods, of Harvard street, a neighbor as he was passing.

Woods immediately put in an emergency call for police and firemen who hurried to the scene with an inhalator. The victims were taken to the hospital in police ambulances. A street cleaning crew vacated the house in a broken main.

Drastic State Slash Of Costs Studied

A demand for abolition of the Alcoholic Beverages Commission, the trustees of the Boston Elevated and all the teachers colleges in the state to reduce expenses, made by Senator Donald W. Nicholson of Wareham, was being studied by the legislative ways and means committee today.

Nicholson also termed waste a "racket" and favored a law prohibiting the trustees of welfare institutions the privilege of "padding" their budgets.

At the meeting session of the committee to consider the legislative proposals, Nicholson said he was in favor of abolishing the Alcoholic Beverages Commission, the trustees of the Boston Elevated and all the teachers colleges in the state to reduce expenses, made by Senator Donald W. Nicholson of Wareham, was being studied by the legislative ways and means committee today.

Nicholson also termed waste a "racket" and favored a law prohibiting the trustees of welfare institutions the privilege of "padding" their budgets.

"If you want to reduce expenses, cut out the Americanized branch of the department of education. It just duplicates the work of the same department in the federal building," he said.

"Would you give up the Hyannis Teachers' College?" he was asked by Rep. Albert F. Higgins.

"Yes," replied Nicholson, "and close up the others, too. And we don't need an Alcoholic Beverages Commission nor the trustees of the Boston Elevated."

"We know what welfare has become. It's a racket now. Twenty years ago people were ashamed to ask for it. Now they demand it."

"There ought to be a law requiring that the names of welfare recipients be printed. I'll wager that the total would be cut down 50 per cent."

ASK RESTRICTION

Nicholson said the bill allowing compensation to those who claim to be blind to welfare and work in the state.

Major James C. Walker paid out $1,000 a year in welfare costs and $1,000 a year in welfare costs. The bill for 1938, but the payment had been increased only $1,000.

Members who favored a similar law to read in the past included: Major Edward J. Walker of Chelsea; Major Roger L. Putnam of Springfield; Major Henry A. Arthur of Lowell; Major Arthur A. Jones of Waltham and Major J. E. Murray of Lynn.

Predict Fifth Defeat Of Child Labor Bill

Seemingly doomed to defeat by adverse vote of the legislative committee on constitutional law, the federal child labor amendment comes up for final action Monday on the floor of the House.

Opponents predict it will pass 20 of the 34 votes and will be drawn for the fifth straight year.

The federal amendment has been revised by 20 articles, with the ratification of eight more needed to make it law.

Labor leaders, representing both the A. F. of L. and the C. I. O. led the battle for ratification of the amendment when opposition for Cardinal O'Connell and President Roosevelt. A later President Roosevelt's opposition, however, is no longer a factor for the past two years.

Among those recorded in opposition to ratification were Bishop James P. O'Connor of Fall River and Bishop Thomas M. O'Leary.

Gov. Thomas W. Reynolds of St. Lawrence, N. Y., has been charged that the amendment because the constitution was not a child in his act but a child in his mind.

TELLS OF SUFFERING

"I was brought up in a mill city," Mr. Reynolds declared, "and I know how the poor suffered in the textile industry. Next to the church, I believe the union is the greatest thing in the lives of these people. . . . we of the church have labored to help the poor. . . . to protect and care for our children. . . . and we will continue to do so."

Reynolds O'Connell was represented by New England J. O'Connell, secretary of the National Federation of Labor Unions, who declared: "We were our children to work hard and to save and to be good. . . . We have been their enemies."

Declaring that the amendment of children in industry is the greatest curse in America today.

VACATIONING at Palm Beach, Lucy Saunders, popular society girl of Newport and New York.

Kenneth E. Taylor, secretary treasurer of the National Federation of Labor Unions, told the committee that the bill was a "comprehensive" measure for the protection of labor.

At the present time Taylor stated more than 100,000 child laborers are employed as harvesters in the agricultural industry in the southwest.

LONE HOPE LEFT FOR 'OATH' FOES

Bitter-end opponents of the Teachers Oath Law rallied today for an almost hopeless battle on Monday, when the House's defeat of the bill to repeal the oath will be formally "reconsidered."

Proponents of the law, who claim that the oath is necessary to maintain the integrity of the teaching profession, will fight to keep it on the books.

Defenders of the law, who claim that the oath is necessary to maintain the integrity of the teaching profession, will fight to keep it on the books.

'Art Judges Cross-Eyed,' Says Feild

Prof. Robert Feild, who has spent years in the study of art, says that art judges are "cross-eyed." He claims that they are unable to see the true value of art and are often misled by popular opinion.

Because of this we have become esthetically cross-eyed," said Prof. Feild. "We don't appreciate art works produced in the present."

"Mickey Mouse is so obvious to us we take him for granted until the word 'art' is mentioned when we criticize and scorn instead of enjoying him. It has always been assumed that laughter cannot be associated with great art."

"Donald Duck is the spirit in a rabbit and, as such, is the reason this cartoon has been banished in Italy."

Prof. Feild presented these views.

Threat of Bronchitis In Baby's Head Cold

By ALLAN ROY DAFEE M. D.

Personal Physician to the Dionne Quintuplets
(Copyright, 1939, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

We have placed a good deal of emphasis on the dangers of ear infection when your baby takes a head cold. I wish I could reassure you that this was the only complication you had to worry about; unfortunately, this isn't the case.

I have already told you that your small baby has little or no resistance to infections of this kind. Accordingly, they tend to spread rapidly once they get a foothold in his system. Thus, when we have an inflammation involving the nose and throat, it isn't at all unlikely that it will spread downward through the tubes and cause bronchitis, perhaps pneumonia.

Let me pause here just long enough to say again that as these cases the child who is breast-fed has a greater resistance to infection than a bottle-fed infant. This is because the mother, through her milk, does much to build up her child's resistance in the face of her child.

COUGH WARNS

A bronchitis is an infection of the smaller tubes which lead to the lungs. The mother can usually recognize this trouble in her child by the fact that he coughs frequently, and I suspect when she notices ear-drops in it, she is to be full of warning. In addition to this, his temperature goes up and he becomes much sicker than when he just had a cold in his head.

Immediate action isn't a serious disease in most cases, but it is a fact that the danger of pneumonia can't be ignored. Even though the cold hasn't yet ten down as far as the bronchial tubes if it is only in the baby's larynx—he will probably cough pretty violently.

PNEUMONIA SYMPTOMS

When pneumonia has developed there is usually a very definite change in the baby's condition. His temperature rises 103 or higher. His breathing becomes rapid and shallow, and before each breath is let out you can hear him give a little grunt. We now have very serious complications and chances aren't better than 50-50 that the baby will recover.

If possible, the baby's doctor will want him removed to a hospital, where he will be watched by trained nurses and given large quantities of fluids; mild mustard will be put on him, and cultures will be taken of his throat to see what bacteria has caused him to be sick.

If a nurse is available to assist with the nursing, it will be given. Put even with the best care in the world, your baby's chances aren't any too good.

If this is true in a modern hospital, think of the odds in favor of the baby's recovery. The danger of pneumonia can't be ignored. Even though the cold hasn't yet

WOMAN, 80, SLEEPS AS POSSE SEARCHES

NORTH GRAFTON, Feb. 17.—While state police and volunteers searched the countryside, an elderly woman slept serenely at a friend's home early today, unaware she was the object of a frantic search for a kidnaper.

Fate of the woman, Miss Mary Whipple, 43, who lived alone in a small house, had remained a mystery for nearly 12 hours.

At midnight, ladies' conference women of the town, who had been alerted, passed her house and found a keyhole lamp was still burning.

A check-up revealed that Mrs. Whipple had left home at about 5 p. m. and had not returned.

She was considered a party of about 100, including 13 who were volunteers, Bay Scouts and summer-student out-subscribers from Grafton, Brookfield and Holden. A rush call was made to 100 houses in the thousands.

No trace of the woman was found in any of all houses in the town.

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Smith, about a mile from Mrs. Whipple's residence, the police were told she had been seen and stayed overnight.

Between 5:30 a. m. State Troop 1, Police, and a Section 100 were sent on the discovery of the hunt and the search was made.

Old Birch-Rod Safest!

PORTLAND, Me., Feb. 17 — Mrs. John B. Calmus' right hand was bandaged today, because her four-year-old son, whom she was spanking, tried to defend himself with a pencil, according to hospital officials.

The pencil pierced her palm and Mrs. Calmus required emergency hospital treatment.

Four Boston
Players Unsigned

Osly, Wade
Hard to Figure

Austen Lake is in Washington, D. C., on a "hot" news story. Watch for his first article.

With more than a week remaining before either club starts for Florida, the Bees and the Red Sox have only four (two on each club) unsigned players.

President Bob Quinn hasn't heard from either Eddie Miller or Jimmy Outlaw, while Eddie Collins is waiting on Fritz Ostermueller and Jake Wade.

Although they haven't agreed to terms, Miller, Outlaw, Ostermueller and Wade cannot be regarded as holdouts at this early date. And, moreover, they'll all be in line and wiser young men within a fortnight.

It's very unwise on the part of any ball player to attempt to bluff Bob Quinn. And, that's particularly true as regards rookies, who were sent contracts calling for more money than they have ever re-

Fritz Ostermueller received.

If they do not come to terms before the Bees leave for Indian ton, Miller and Outlaw will see the light shortly after they've been closeted with Bob Quinn. Apparently, they are not aware that their new boss is a straight shooter and that if they live up to their advance notices, they'll have no trouble receiving their just rewards.

Eddie Collins hasn't commented on Ostermueller or Wade, other than to state that they haven't signed. However, he must be taking it upon the line of reasoning used by these southpaw postmen: "Eddie" won't they command more money.

True, Ostermueller was credited for last season with 17 wins and 10 losses.

5 defeats. Last, Fritz could have been charged with rose color lenses, under false pretenses from 1934 through 1937, during which time he was credited with 17 wins and 10 losses and lost 44 decisions.

It took five years for Tom Yawkey to get any returns from his investment in Ostermueller. Now after losing more games than he won for four years, "Eddie" wants a sizeable advance in salary.

Jake Wade pitched only 70 innings for Detroit last season and with that earned him an average of 65¢ to be in the league.

BARTOLO TESTS SPEED AGAINST SCALZO PUNCH

Salvatore Bartolo of East Boston will flash his brilliance as a boxer against the terrific punching power of Pete Scalzo in one of the three ten-round features at the Goodwin A. C.'s show at the Garden tonight.

Bartolo, a former Hearst All-America star, is one of the fastest and most skillful boxers in the featherweight division. Since turning professional, Bartolo has piled up a splendid list of wins. Scalzo gained national standing when he knocked out Joey Archibald of Providence. Tonight Pete will try to chill the speedy Bartolo.

Bartolo, who has won 10 straight fights, including the United States title, will add the Eastern States title of Worcester to his list of honors by knocking out Scalzo.

The third ten-round feature will be between Jimmy Kelly of Boston and Mike Kaplan of Dorchester. Kelly is a former champion of the Eastern States title of Worcester.

Olympics Try Out New System

The Olympics went through an hour game scrimmage last night, trying out their new referee system and preparing for their coming week end series with the St. John Beavers.

A "mike" was rigged up in the photographer's cage just to the right of the press box. Herb Gallagher, Northeastern coach, took his place in the box with Smoke Kelleher on the line.

Gallagher called all the offside plays, while Kelleher called the penalties.

Coach Haco Harrington made a one-minute split in the goal-keeping and scored twice. Hago and John Van der Horst, Alex and Jessiman, and placed Cliff Johnson on the second wall with Gerry Desjardis and Dick Lawton.

When the game was over, it was a 1-1 tie, with the St. John Beavers leading 1-0.

The game was a very good one in the opinion of all who were present and it was a very good one in the opinion of all who were present.

A late change probably will see Tom Moon doing the goal tending on Sat. day night.

Ted Evans is slated to be married on the 25th of this month and at the present is in Boston, feigning the bride-to-be home for the ceremony. Ted will be back in time for the Sunday afternoon tilt, tomorrow.

11 .300 Hitters
Now With Bees

Quinn Has Given
Club Real Power

"CAN HE HIT?"

Bob Quinn has fired this question at everybody who has suggested trades and purchases for the Bees during the past year. Quinn has insisted that the Bees needed free hitters more than they did fancy fielders.

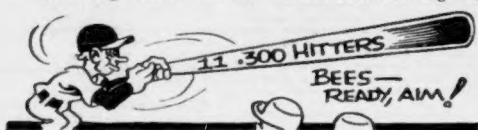

The result of Quinn's efforts has been that the Bees will have ELEVEN .300 hitters when they begin Spring practice at Bradenton, Fla. Last season the club possessed only ONE .300 hitter, Debs Garms who ended the season with an average of .315.

Take a peek at this list of .300 hitters who will try to produce for Quinn and Casey Stengel:

Debs Garms, outfielder and infielder, Bees, .315; Al Simmons, outfielder, Senators, .302, for an all-time 15-year average of .340; Jim Outlaw, outfielder, Syracuse, .339; John Hill, third base, Atlanta, leading batter Southern League, .338; Henry Majeski, second base, Birmingham, .325; Otto Huber, second and third base, Evansville, .311; Carvell Rowell, shortstop, Dayton, .310; Stanley Andrew, catcher, Hartford, .304; Phillip Masi, catcher and outfielder, Springfield, Ohio, .308; Ralph Hodgins, outfielder, Evansville, .323, and Ralph McLeod, outfielder, Hartford, .332.

Buddy Hassett, new first baseman acquired from Brooklyn, is almost in the .300 class as he hit for .293 last season, and has a National League batting average of over .300.

Even though most of these .300 marks have been made against minor league pitching, they at least prove that the players mentioned can whack the little agit.

Dan Howley, who manages Toronto, says he will be surprised if Jimmy Outlaw doesn't hit for .325 with the Bees. Howley had plenty of opportunities to see Outlaw in action last season as Syracuse is in the same league with Toronto.

Quinn tired of hitless stars like Vince DiMaggio. Bob argues that speed on the bases and brilliant fielding are fine assets, but that it is still impossible to steal first base.

Bees Have Brilliant Pitching Staff

WHILE CONCENTRATING on the signing of .300 hitters, Quinn has also been adding strength to his already powerful pitching staff.

Of last year's stars Danny MacFayden, Jim Turner, Lou Fette, Mil Shoffner, Dick Erickson and John Lanning will return to the firing line. Erickson won nine games last season. He was discovered by Jesse Burkett, and in the opinion of the astute Bill McKennie will prove to be one of the greatest pitchers in the National League.

I look for the Bees' veteran flingers to pitch even better ball than they have in the past as they will now have more batting support and so will not have to win so many one run games. It is a constant strain on a pitching staff when it has to come through with close victories.

Young Pitchers to Join Club

INCLUDED IN the list of promising young pitchers who will report to Casey Stengel at Bradenton are Joe Sullivan, left-handed star who led the International League last year; John Pezzullo, southpaw, who won 26 games for Savannah; Tom Early of Roxbury, who took 12 wins at Hartford and held the Phillies to three hits in his bow with the Bees; Al Hazel, left hander, who won 15 games for Evansville, and had the remarkable earned run average of 2.52 for a game; Albert Moran, six-foot four-inch giant who won 12 games at Hartford and who was originally a "find" of "Rabbit" Maranville.

Freddy Frankhouse will also be back with the Bees after having spent three seasons with the Dodgers. Last year Frankhouse won only three games, while he lost four contests.

Frankhouse did better for the Dodgers when that club was managed by Casey Stengel, and so may show to advantage now that he is back in Boston.

'Shadow' Remains Mystery

By JACK CONWAY

"The Shadow" is still the mystery man of wrestling as a result of his furious 90-minute draw with Dynamite Gus Sonnenberg before a roaring crowd of 9000 fans at the Garden.

Each wrestler scored a fall. "The Shadow" pinned Gus with a series of headlocks in 57th. flat.

Sonnenberg came back to down "The Shadow" in 30m. 5s. with his famous flying tackle. Neither wrestler was able to score a toes in the remaining 2m. 35s. Under the rules of the American Wrestling Association all non-championship matches are limited to 90m.

"The Shadow" had power, ring wisdom and a headlock the equal of the one that enabled Stranger Lewis to rule the wrestling world for a decade.

Sonnenberg had his butt and lightning flying tackle.

It looked as if Gus was going to be beaten by a single fall when he cut loose with his late rally that gave him a fall and evened the match.

SONNY CROWD PLEASED

It was a Sonnenberg crowd, and the excitement was intense when the old dynamite smashed "The Shadow" to the canvas with his crushing tackle.

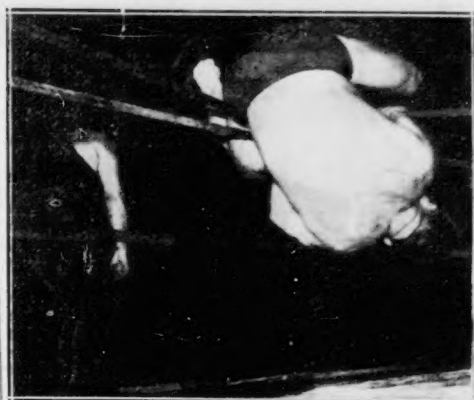

It was a hard, bitter match, with both wrestlers going flying through the ropes on numerous occasions.

Sonnenberg was as daring and reckless as he was when champion, which gave the crowd added thrills.

"The Shadow" was obliged to call upon all of his ringcraft to save himself from dangerous situations when Sonny let drive with his tackle.

As a result of the draw decision, it was not necessary for "The Shadow" to remove his mask.

Dan O'Mahony came skyrocketing back into a Boston ring with an impressive victory over Harry Jacobs of California, who he pinned in 4m. 5s. with an "Irish Whip" and body press.

WHO TOOK HIM OUT?—When Gus Sonnenberg played football for Dartmouth and the Providence Steam Rollers he never had wings. Last night at the Boston Garden, The Shadow proved Gus could fly to heaven.

Abe Starts Too Late So Honey Keeps Title

By HERB FINNEGAN

Honey Melody was still lightweight champion of all New England today, and he'll remain on the dais for years as long as they feed him Abe Denner's.

Not that Abe can't fight. He's got all the tools. But he still shows a costly lack of experience, and experience was the deciding factor in the Melody-Denner title affair which the Argonne A. A. staged at Mechanics Building.

Honey swarmed all over his young West End rival, keeping on top of him practically all the way and never letting him get set.

It was an effective procedure, for going into the 10th round Abe was a very bad second in the title race.

His handlers must have told him he had to put over a kayo to win, for Abe stepped out in the 10th and took it from here to there. He repeated in the 11th, and made a gallant stand in the 12th and closing frame.

But the damage had been done. Had he started to swap punches earlier instead of playing the bean sabreur, had he used that left hook earlier instead of that left jab, there might be a different story to tell today.

But procrastination ruined him just as it ruined Hamlet, and Abe must bide his time before he gets another title shot.

It was a good show, pleasing the 2524 paying customers who contributed a gross of $2186 and a net of $2017.

The Buster Carroll-Cocoa Kid bout was busy all the way but the fight of the night was that between Pat Foley of Worcester, 134, and Johnny Cabello of Puerto Rico, 134.

It was a hair-raiser and although Foley was awarded a unanimous decision and deserved it, the contest was such a pleaser that the entire audience applauded deafeningly for at least five minutes after the bout.

Buster Carroll was broken-hearted after dropping the duke to Cocoa Kid. He thought he had won the fight through his aggressiveness, if nothing else. Ring-side consensus, however, was that the Cocoa Kid won handily. The latter may be slipping, but he's still a ringmaster. A procession of former ring greats was introduced before the main bout.

They were: Martin Canole, Kid Goodman, Terry Brooks, Joe Egan, Freddie Yell, Jimmy Briggs, Chester Goodwin, Billy Murphy and Al Delmont. Maurice Strickland, New Zealand heavyweight, will meet Terry Warrington in the Argonne A. A.'s next production. In the semi-final, Pat Comiskey, latest Jersey knockout artist, will face Johnny Skhor, who featured the Heaviest All-American bouts recently at the Garden.

The results:

Honey Melody, 134½, Charlestown, took unanimous decision from Abe Denner, 129½, West End, 12 rounds.
Cocoa Kid, 144½, New Haven, defeated Buster Carroll, 144½, Worcester, defeated Martin and Judge McMillen voted for Cocoa Kid, referee Shashbazz voted it a draw, 16 rounds.
Pat Foley, Worcester, 134, took unanimous decision from Johnny Cabello, 134, Puerto Rico, 16 rounds.
Terry Warrington, 128, New Boston, stopped Dan O'Connell, 177, New York, in third round, technical knockout.

Gene Anderson and Al Grauer, year-round pros at Oyster Harbors and Coonamisset, report brisk week-ends at their respective Cape Cod courses.

"I know that these 'birds' are going to do a job on me and the Dodgers tonight," Larry McPhail declared to Johnny Quinn of the Bees just before the start of the recent dinner of the New York Chapter of the Baseball Writers' Association. "And it's all right with me. I can take it, and while they're working on me they'll be laying off Terry.

"But, if I get a ball club together this season and we finish up with the leaders, they'd better not encore the 'ribbing' next year, or I'll get myself a couple of 8's and shoot the chandeliers off this ceiling."

IT'S SNOWING WINTER CARNIVALS, jumping events, and ski races this week-end! All should take place as scheduled, for, despite the recent rains, Northern centers have plenty of snow and conditions should improve with new snow forecast.

Carnivals open Friday and Saturday in N. H. at Derry, Jaffrey, Lancaster, Wolfeboro, Upper-Merrimack, Exeter and Phillips Exeter Academy, and Woodstock. At Somersworth, some 3000 members of the American Snowshoe Union from this country and Canada will participate in the National Championship races.

The Dartmouth Outing Club is holding ski jumping championships Saturday, while the Woodstock Outing Club is sponsoring an interscholastic ski meet, followed by Class "C" downhill and slalom races.

Another interscholastic winter sports meet will be contested at Littleton tomorrow.

OSCAR CYR, director of the Newfoundland Ski School, will set the course for the seventh of the slalom series scheduled at the Thomson Club Slalom Glade on Sugar Hill, Bristol, N. H., Sunday. This series is becoming increasingly popular from week to week, and has done much to improve the skiing ability of the competitors. In the standings for the Seasonal Plaque, Grant Birkenhead of the New Hampton School now holds the lead. Phil Parker of the Black and Blue Trail Smashers is a close second, with Ralph Chase, Bristol, N. H. Ski Dasher, Obstacle Races, Cross Country, Slalom and Downhill, Snowshoe and Skating Races are included in the program of events. 120 prizes will be awarded, as well as a Loving Cup to the Snow Feet Queen.

Next Wednesday, Washington's Birthday, the NEWFOUND REGION SNOW FEST will take place at Kelley Park and Central Square, Bristol, N. H. Ski Dasher, Obstacle Races, Cross Country, Slalom and Downhill, Snowshoe and Skating Races are included in the program of events. 120 prizes will be awarded, as well as a Loving Cup to the Snow Feet Queen.

Annie Brink Staging Jumping Act in Canada

SKI SCOOPS: Annie Brink, the Boston American's Skiing Fashion Editor, writes from Canada where she has been spending a two weeks vacation... She has been putting on a "jumping bean act". Started at Seignory Club, Montebello, jumped back to Montreal, then into the Laurentians, to the Châlet Cochard, then on to St. Sauveur, up to Valmorin, and back to St. Sauveur... An exotic itinerary!

A snowbird tells us skiing is as good in New England as in Canada... At famed Hill 70, near Quebec, one has to wait in line 45 minutes to get on the ski tow!

No, skiers aren't suddenly cultivating a crop of black eyes! Dark glasses are being replaced by rubbing charcoal under the eyes to stop the glare... It works!... The football team of Dartmouth was first to use this scheme.

We've seen skiers wearing Tyrolean hats, golf caps, crew caps, soft hats, and berets, but last week we discovered a chap skiing under a derby!... Want to have fun? Ask every skier wearing Instructor's Pants if he is an instructor!

Miss Freudenfeld to Race in Canadian Championships

CANADIAN SKI CAPERS: From Hilda Turner comes word that Miss Vera Freudenfeld, formerly of Vienna, who has been teaching skiing in the Laurentians this winter, is the latest entry to be received at the Seignory Club in the Province of Quebec for the Women's Dominion Ski Championships being held there tomorrow and Sunday. It's the gala again!

Miss Freudenfeld, who holds a racing permit issued by the Canadian Amateur Ski Association, will race in the Dominion Championships as an FIS amateur. Starting at the age of four, she has skied extensively in Europe. Last year, the twenty-two-year-old Austrian won the Giant Slalom at Davos and finished third in an

Neville Booth To Lead 'Y' Team

In the first annual open indoor trial track meet to be held at the Huntington Avenue Y on February 25, the Boston Y. M. C. A. will enter a full squad, led by Captain Neville Booth, who will compete in the 600-yard run and the relay.

Two former Mass. State runners will make their initial appearance at this event—D. L. Silverman in the 45 foot hurdles and B. Feinberg in the 45-yard dash.

100 Years of Baseball

Boston Teams Dominated In Early Days of Baseball

CHAPTER 6
By SID MERCER

The National Association of Professional Baseball Players arose and fell within a span of five years. Of the original ten clubs in this first league only eight finished the first season.

No team played more than 35 games and some less. The championship was won by the Athletics from the Chinaco club, then homeless after the great Chicago fire of 1871.

The deciding game was played on neutral grounds in Brooklyn.

Eleven teams started in the 1872 season and only seven played out anything like a full schedule. The Boston club was the winner and for the next three seasons also dominated the league, one "casser" for its crackup.

The Boston battery of Spalding and McVey was apparently unbeatable.

The league rule prohibiting anyone but a professional player from holding office was a mistake as a "strong hand" was needed to curb dishonesty.

Chicago was the only Western team in the eight-club race in 1874.

A ten-man and ten-innings rule was adopted that year, the extra player being an extra shortstop between first and second base. The rule was rescinded before the season opened.

Slipped government of the league of players ended the 1874 race with 96 of the 222 scheduled games unplayed. This situation developed the first foreign tour.

The Boston and Philadelphia clubs, augmented by some college amateurs called for Ensign and on July 18 to demonstrate the developing game to our British cousins. Adrian C. Anson, then beginning a "long haul" career, was the Philadelphia first baseman. Spalding was the Boston pitcher.

The teams played 14 games in London and other English cities but failed to stir up enthusiasm for the American sport.

The spectators, then as now, were more intrigued by the fielding than the batting. Cricketers alone were amazed at the "bowling."

Until they saw it they scoffed at the "curve pitch" then in its early stages of development.

In 1875 thirteen clubs entered the Professional Association race. Of several new clubs St. Louis was the only one to complete its schedule.

Pool selling and other forms of open gambling, liquor selling, contract breaking and general lack of discipline were bringing baseball into disrepute. The players through their own leaders, failed to abolish these abuses.

Spalding's disgust with the conduct of the association and the low moral standards of a majority of the players moved him to join the movement for a radical change.

He became a leader of the decent player element allied with William A. Hurlbut, president of the Chicago club. After two preliminary conferences of club officials and players a call was issued for the formation of a new association designed to remedy existing evils. Thus the beginning of an important era in baseball was tated.

The National League's struggle to survive is unfolded in tomorrow's installment on "100 years in Baseball."
